KANSAS FARM BUREAU HONORS TRADITION AND HERITAGE OF FAMILY FARMS POPULAR 'CENTURY FARM' EFFORT ENTERS ELEVENTH YEAR ACROSS KANSAS

MANHATTAN - Tradition and heritage is a big part of what makes agriculture such an attractive way of life for so many Kansans. The lifeblood of our existence, the farms and ranches in Kansas, provide food, fuel and fiber for the world.

The history of these farms and ranches is rich, with many stories to tell. In that spirit, Kansas Farm Bureau, the state's leading agriculture advocacy organization, is launching the ninth year of its program for the new millennium to honor those family farms that have passed down this heritage for more than a century.

The Kansas Farm Bureau "Century Farm" program will recognize family farms whose current owner/operator is related to the owner/operator of the farm in 1910 or before. Qualifying farmers will receive a farm sign designating "Century Farm" status, Century Farm lapel pins and recognition from Kansas Farm Bureau.

"As farmers and ranchers, we are proud of our legacy and heritage," said Steve Baccus, Kansas Farm Bureau president. "The Century Farm program will help others better appreciate the strong family ties and tradition that we hold so dear."

During the first ten years of the Century Farm Program, more than 2,000 family farms qualified for the Farm Bureau Century Farm designation.

The deadline for consideration is May 14, 2010. Complete details for qualification and an application can be obtained at county Farm Bureau offices across Kansas or on the KFB web site, <http://www.kfb.org/centuryfarm/default.htm>,

Kansas Farm Bureau represents grassroots agriculture. Established in 1919, this non-profit advocacy organization supports farm families who earn their living in a changing industry.
