

WHAT'S YOUR CAREER IN AG?

WE ALL HAVE A PLACE IN AGRICULTURE, BUT WHERE'S YOURS?

What do you and your friends talk about the most?

Anything Trendy A	Your Pets B	Books/ Podcasts C	The Weather D	Stock Markets E	Food Decisions F	The Future G
----------------------	----------------	-------------------------	------------------	--------------------	---------------------	-----------------

What's your preferred vacation at the moment?

Brazil, for the rainforest A	Africa, for the animals B	Washington D.C. for the stories C	Colorado, for nature D	New York City, for the hustle and bustle E	Italy, for the food F	Europe, for the history G
---------------------------------	------------------------------	--------------------------------------	---------------------------	---	--------------------------	------------------------------

Buy something with your first paycheck:

A fancy dinner A	An animal B	A camera C	New boots D	More into my 401(k), of course E	A KitchenAid mixer F	Kindle or e-reader G
---------------------	----------------	---------------	----------------	-------------------------------------	-------------------------	-------------------------

Choose a word that best describes you:

Creative A	Caring B	Loyal C	Traditional D	Analytical E	Helpful F	Influential G
---------------	-------------	------------	------------------	-----------------	--------------	------------------

Choose a pattern:

Paisley A	Floral B	Plaid C	Gingham D	Ikat E	Houndstooth F	Chevron G
--------------	-------------	------------	--------------	-----------	------------------	--------------

YOUR RESULTS

Mostly As

You got: Food Scientist

You are so smart. You really love science and math and love thinking about the deeper molecular aspects of organisms, which can get a little creepy, but we're supportive. As a food scientist, you look great in a lab coat, take cleanliness to a whole new level and are known to talk to your plants and food. You are more inclined to lean with scientific data than emotional feeling. You're very analytical, enjoy smart conversations and are looking forward to creating the next big food product.

Mostly Bs

You got: Veterinarian

Must love dogs. And horses. And cows. And all the animals. You are a patient individual with a strong stomach. You thrive in learning environments and have a good memory. You prefer animals but work decently well with (most) people. You're strong, yet soft. As a veterinarian, you have a strong role in agriculture to help ranchers protect livestock from disease and ailments.

Mostly Cs

You got: Agriculture Communications

Words trump numbers for you. Excel documents are your personal nightmare, but you thrive in a blank Microsoft Word file. You believe in a well-worded quote, a strong headline, an emotional story and factual details. You know the difference between your and you're, and you cringe when you see it misused. You love to read, you are loyal to those you love and whether you work with media, social media, broadcast, magazines or newspapers, telling agriculture's story is something you love.

Mostly Ds

You got: Farmer/Rancher

Not all heroes wear capes. You are traditional, hard-working and protective (in a good way). You care for the land and livestock for the next generation and are proud to feed families in Kansas, throughout the nation and around the world. You're smart, determined and sometimes headstrong. This job requires early mornings, long days and late nights, but you're dedicated to your noble profession.

Mostly Es

You got: Agriculture Economist

SHOW ME THE MONEY. or the financial analysis, return on investment and marketing plan. You love looking ahead (predicting the future, somewhat) and believe numbers is all you need for proof of a hypothesis. You spend a lot of time analyzing alternative decisions. You watch the stock market closely, supply and demand is an easy concept for you and you love a good graph.

Mostly Fs

You got: Dietitian

Yes, even dietitians are involved in agriculture. You are influential in the buying and eating decisions of hundreds of families throughout Kansas and even more throughout the U.S. You enjoy working with people and helping others. Working on your own is how you prefer it, although you sometimes seek the advice of others. You hate fads, believe in everyone and want to see people succeed.

Mostly Gs

You got: Ag Teacher

Our youth are the future and you feel inclined to shape it. As an agriculture teacher, you encourage your students to think differently. You are expressive, exuberant and influential. You are the one who believes in the future of agriculture the most. You are a natural leader, explain things thoroughly and you're independent. Some ag teachers are even brave enough to haul around teenagers to FFA and 4-H events. The real MVPs.

These are just a few of the many career options available in agriculture. Did you know agriculture is Kansas' largest employer? Yep. It's never too late to live your destiny provided to you in this quiz, but chances are, your career is already connected to agriculture.