

Capitol Experience 2006

News Release

Over 130 high school students from across the state attended Kansas Farm Bureau's eighteenth annual Capitol Experience program held February 23 in Topeka. (Insert name of County FB) sponsored (Insert names of conferees) to attend.

Capitol Experience is designed to provide students a firsthand look at Kansas Government. Highlights of this year's event included a breakfast with legislators, hearing from Secretary of State Ron Thornburgh and Attorney General Phill Kline, touring the Capitol, attending committee meetings, observing the House and Senate in session and visiting the judicial center.

"This is an opportunity for students to see their state legislative process in action," (Insert name of president) President of the (Insert name of county) County Farm Bureau Association, said. The students were encouraged to contact their legislator's by stopping by their offices and introducing themselves. "We hope Capitol Experience sparks some interest and encourages these young people to become active citizens in their communities."
